TENNESSEE CHRISTIAN
Volume IV Issue XVIII

from the Head

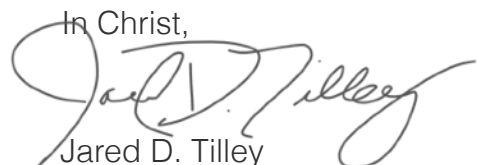

Then Jesus said to the Jews who had believed in him, if you continue in my word, you are truly my disciples, and you will know the truth, and the truth will make you free.

John 8:31-32

As a parent of three children at Tennessee Christian, I have been impressed with the outpouring of love and kindness toward Elliott, Martin, and Iris. A key aspect of their growth is their understanding of the Bible, which reflects intellectual curiosity and spiritual maturity. It brings Victoria and me immense joy to witness the depth of our kids' observations and the impact of the Christian education they receive at Tennessee Christian.

The other day, Martin was reflecting on his day at school with Victoria when he said something profound, at least to me. "I love learning about the Bible, you take a drop of history and a drop of the Holy Spirit and boom, The Bible!" This insightful remark unveils his grasp of the dual nature of the scriptures. He recognizes the historical significance embedded in the Bible, tracing the origins and evolution of civilizations through its narratives. Simultaneously, he acknowledges the spiritual essence, attributing the divine touch of the Holy Spirit that renders the Bible a sacred text.

The inquisitive nature that Tennessee Christian fostered in Martin is a joy to see as a parent. We especially thank the educators who have contributed to his growth, creating a space where he can confidently articulate his observations about faith. Tennessee Christian does not hide the candle underneath a bushel, oh no! As a school, we encourage our students to be confident in their faith, resting in God's providential plan for our lives.

INTERNATIONAL DAY COUNTRY DRAFT

The middle and upper school students gathered together this past Wednesday and began the 8th Annual History Department's International Day. The festival opening ceremony allowed the students to answer trivia and claim the country of their choice. The groups will then work diligently to design, create, research, and produce a small recreation of their selected country on April 18th for the International Day festivities. Now the countries have been selected, the work begins! Our International Day is scheduled for April 19. Save the date!

The Learning Cottage is constantly developing vital skills with our youngest Hawks. Along with being doctors, scientists, and mathematicians, the students developed friendship through the kind act of delivering cookies to the Kindergarten class.
